WILSON ON STAND IN WILEY CASE

Secretary of Agriculture Testifies Before Congressional Inquiry into Affairs.

HEARINGS ARE NOW CONCLUDED

An Executive Session to Be Held Today for Final Consideration and Formulation of Report—Bureau Chief Also Witness

Washington, Aug. 21.—The Congressional investigation into the attempt to oust Dr. H. W. Wiley from his position as head of the Bureau of Chemistry, in the Department of Agriculture, was closed today with the testimony of Secretary Wilson. The committee will hold an executive meeting tomorrow to consider its report.

Many times in his testimony, Secretary Wilson condemned Dr. Wiley's demeanor, charging that he was oversensitive because his findings on pure food and drugs were not accepted as final, but were sometimes referred to referee board which Dr. Ira Remsen is chairman. As he was leaving the stand, Secretary Wilson declared that he would prefer to resign his job to going through another "bureau row."

Secretary Wilson submitted correspondence between himself and special assistant attorney general, Miller, in which Mr. Miller said Dr. Wiley had admitted his inability to qualify as an expert in the Coca-Cola case. Mr. Miller, the Secretary said, wrote him that the chief of the Bureau of Chemistry was all right on the argumentative side of the case, but was of no use in the government's contention as he admitted to him (Miller) that he could qualify as an expert chemist, toxocologist, physiological chemist, or doctor of medicine.

Secretary Wilson said he became suspicious of the employment of Dr. H. H. Rusby, of New York, the drug expert and storm center of the investigation when he was shown a letter purporting to have been written by Dr. Kebler, of the Bureau of Chemistry, telling Dr. Rusby that it would be all the same whether he worked one day or many. The employment has been approved by the secretary, but he said that he did not examine into the details of the contract, leaving that to Dr. Wiley.

The secretary said he was investigating a report that Dr. Rusby had accepted fees from drug importers for opinions regarding samples of drugs they were considering importing and then passed on the drugs later as the representative of the government. He said an inspector had reported he had discovered one such alleged instance.

In testifying about the employment of experts, he said, that in the coca-cola case Dr. Wiley had agreed to give an expert $1,000 for appearing in the matter and later, the expert wanted $100 for expenses.

"I paid the expenses because we had agreed to do so and I issued an order that thereafter Dr. Wiley might select the experts, but Solicitor McCabe was to fix the rate of compensation," said the secretary.

The witness said Dr. Wiley "seemingly wants to put me in a hole about the corn syrup case." It was in this case that Dr. Wiley had told the committee about the three cabinet officers charged with supervisory duties over pure food and drug questions, changing a decision of the pure food and drugs board relative to a substance being "glucose" or "corn syrup," after the decision had gone to print.

"Dr. Wiley has forgotten a conference he attended on that subject," said Secretary Wilson. He attended it and so did I. It was held at the White House during the administration of President Roosevelt. There was an exceedingly interesting discussion Very. Yes, very. The President had an opinion about a person who thought that the substance was not syrup." He told how the three secretaries decided that the substance could be named "corn syrup," whereupon Representative Floyd suggested that they did it out of regard to the President's views.

"It is well for those under a man to listen to him or leave his service," replied the secretary.

The secretary denounced as "radical" the recommendation of Dr. Wiley that food containing alum be prohibited until the referee board had passed upon the subject. In support of his refusal to do so, Secretary Wilson referred to President Taft 'settling the question that manufacturers of bleached flour should be permitted to continue their manufacture until the courts had passed on an appeal.

"If we took such action as Dr. Wiley recommended on articles where there was no question of deleterious effect on health, we would ruin the persons engaged in the business before the Remsen board passed on the question," said the secretary.

Referring to the attempt to get Dr. Wiley to testify about the effect of benzoate of soda, the famous Indiana case when the Remsen board was requested by the secretary to testify, the witness said it seemed to him ridiculous.

"Dr. Wiley knows I never opposed his going anywhere," said the wit

THE EXTRA SESSION SOON TO ADJOURN

Both Houses Will Await His Veto of Cotton Tariff Revision Bill—Filibuster by Minority Leader Mann—End of Session.

Washington, August 21.—The extra session of Congress will pass into history at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. The Democratic caucus of the House at a meeting tonight agreed to the Penrose resolution, which passed the Senate, prescribing that hour as the date of final adjournment. This action carried out through a resolution passed by the House at a session to night put into effect an understading reached in the afternoon between party leaders in both Houses.

The resolution carried unanimously in the House.

It directed the appointment of three members of the House to join with the members of the Senate to notify the President that Congress was ready to adjourn. The committee appointed on the part of the House consisted of Representatives Underwood, of Ala-Alabama, Democratic leader of the House; Dixon, of Indiana, Democratic member of the Ways and Means Committee, and Mann, of Illinois, Republican leader of the House. The Senate will name its committee tomorrow.

President Taft's veto is ready to be placed before both Houses of Congress when they convene at noon tomorrow. Immediately upon its receipt Democratic Leader Underwood will move its reference to the Ways and Means Committee, of which he is chairman, and there it will lie undisturbed until the regular session of Congress convenes in December.

Congress could easily have adjourned tonight, but the adjournment understanding was designed especially to accord to the President the courtesy of an opportunity to present his veto of the Cotton bill before the curtain was rung down on a session replete with tariff revisional activities.

The Senate, without any business before it, marked time on the House. Twice it took recesses during the afternoon, and with a view to having the Senate in session so that as the House passed the Cotton bill Vice-President Sherman might sign it and speed it on to the White House. The presiding officers of the two Houses can sign bills only when their respective Houses are in session.

In the interim between 6:15 and 8 o'clock, when the House was in recess, the Democratic representatives met to carry out a promise of Leader Underwood that the matter of adjournment would be submitted to caucus. As the result of the caucus action, the Senate resolution for adjournment was passed and the House then proceeded upon miscellaneous legislation to clear the calendar of its flotsam and jetsam. Meantime, the President's veto had been prepared and would have been sent to Congress at 8 o'clock tonight, if both Houses had remained in session, but the Senate at 6:36 P. M., adjourned until tomorrow morning.

At the night session, after the disposition of matters on the unanimous calendar, Minority Leader Mann for more than an hour conducted a single-handed filibuster against an effort of Representative Wilson, of Pennsylvania, to suspend the rules and consider a resolution providing for the investigation by a committee of three of the Taylor system of scientific shop management, which is being introduced into government workshops. Mr. Mann finally permitted the resolution to pass, after slight amendment.

A bill was passed extending until March, 1912, the Burton law governing the diversion of the waters of Niagara Falls. The House then adjourned at 11:15 P. M.

Ex-President Roosevelt Doesn't Want the Nomination in 1912.

Pittsburg, Pa., Aug. 21.—Former President Theodore Roosevelt, in a letter to Alexander P. Moore, editor of the Pittsburg Leader, made public today, says:

"I must ask not only you but every friend I have to see to it that no movement whatever is made to bring me forward for the nomination in 1912. I should esteem it a genuine calamity if such movement were undertaken."

The Leader has been advocating the nomination of Mr. Roosevelt for President in 1912.

ACCUSED OF PLAYING BROKER.

Bellboy's Attorney Claims to Have Adequate Defense.

New York, Aug. 21.—A special panel of 150 talesmen appeared in the court of general sessions today to furnish a jury for the trial of Paul Geidel, the bellboy, charged with the murder of William Henry Jackson, the aged broker.

Although at the time of the murder in the Hotel Iroquis the police said they had Geidel's full confession, his attorney declared that he has prepared an adequate defense.

TRIAL OF BEATTIE BEGUN IN VIRGINIA

Seven of Twelve Jurors Had Been Passed on Yesterday Afternoon.

ADJOURNED UNTIL WEDNESDAY

Sheriff Given Time for Additional Veniremen—Prisoner is Interested in Proceedings—"Girl in Case" Not Present.

Chesterfield Court House, Va., Aug. 21.—Quick action marked the opening today of the trial of Henry Clay Beattie, Jr., on the charge of murdering his wife while with her on a motor ride on Midlothian turnpike, near Richmond, a month ago. Twelve jurors were selected before court adjourned, but four of these will be challenged by the defense and four others will be chosen from a special venire of 30 men summoned to appear in court Wednesday, to which day the court adjourned. Beattie, when arraigned, pleaded "not guilty."

The jurors, all but two of them, are farmers from the county. The two exceptions are a quarryman and a contractor. The names of the jurors are: N. W. Farley, quarryman, 37 years old; R. H. Covington, 33 years old; John D. Dance, 48 years old; E. L. Wilson, 38 years old; A. L. Fetterloef, contractor, 34 years old; Irving M. Bass, Jr., 30 years old; V. W. Fuqua, 27 years old; W. L. Burgess, 52 years old; M. B. Purdie, 27 years old; J. C. Condrey, 53 years old; W. Y. Lundy, 59 years old; M. C. Robinson, 44 years old.

Beattie pleaded not guilty in an even, clear voice. All motions of the defense for postponement were denied and motions to quash the indictment overruled so that when the morning session was adjourned the preliminaries had been disposed of and seven of the prospective jurors were in the box.

The afternoon session moved more slowly. A second venire of 20 men was exhausted after tedius questioning, but five more jurors, subject to the four peremptory challenges of the defense, were added to the seven selected previously. Judge Walter A. Watson then adjourned court, giving the sheriff until noon Wednesday to assemble the additional venire.

There were perhaps a thousand persons assembled around the old court house during the day's proceedings, but few of them were from Richmond. The majority of the on-lookers came from Chesterfield Court House and vicinity and perhaps 200 of these—all men—were able to crowd into the historic court room.

Beulah Binford, the pretty 17-year-old "girl in the case," did not appear at the court house. She is held in jail at Richmond as a material witness but it was not deemed necessary to bring her here today. Paul Beattie, the prisoner's cousin, and one of the commonwealth's chief witnesses, also was left in his cell at Richmond.

Mrs. Claudia Powell, sister of the Binford girl, appeared in the afternoon and attracted much attention. She said simply that she had come because she was interested. Henry Clay Beattie, Sr., sat beside his son all day long and followed the proceedings closely. Few words passed between him and the prisoner, who showed little or no nervousness when the indictment was read, though he fretted a bit during the afternoon.

At times young Beattie whispered suggestions to his lawyers, H. M. Smith, Jr., and Hill Carter, and frequently he scanned with interest the newspaper "extras," giving the details of the proceedings.

Sheriff Gill took Beattie back to the jail at Richmond tonight.

ATWOOD LOST HIS BEARINGS

Syracuse, N. Y., August 21.—Lost with his aeroplane in trying to fly from Lyons, N. Y., to Auburn, 25 miles distant, Harry N. Atwood, the Boston aviator, who is flying from St. Louis to New York, wandered about in the air for almost an hour late this afternoon, and finally was forced by darkness to land in an unexpected spot, five miles west of Syracuse. The delay caused a serious setback in the attempt which the aviator is making to break the world's record in cross-country aeroplane flying.

Atwood ascended at Lyons with the purpose of flying in an air line 98 miles to Utica, before night. Just after he started he decided to detour from the course which he has followed, along the tracks of the New York Central railroad, and cut across country, to give the crowds at Auburn an opportunity to see him. But later, over the farm lands, he lost his bearings, and, not wishing to alight, he kept circling about, hoping to pick out Auburn.

Over villages and lonely farm houses he wandered, without avail. Meanwhile, great uneasiness was felt as to his fate by thousands of people who waited in parks and on house tops to see him at Syracuse and Utica.

Anxious messages were sent over the telegraph wires but word came back that after leaving Lyons he had ventured off his course to the southward, and nothing later had been seen of him.

It was 4:22 when Atwood left Lyons. At 5:20 P. M. he suddenly appeared over Auburn and landed there.

Fearful of again being lost, since he was away from his regular course, Atwood did not venture away from Auburn until 6:45 P. M., when he ascended uncertain as to his destination.

Then began another exciting search for him, extending all the way from Auburn to Utica. All telegraph wires were burdened with the query:

"Where's Atwood?"

Ten thousand people at Utica await-

MESSAGES FROM PRESIDENT

Further Appropriations For Raising Maine Urged—Proposition to Spanish Vessels on Cuban Coast—Survey of Lakes

Washington, Aug. 21.—President Taft today sent three short messages to Congress, one urging a further appropriation to complete the work of raising the wreck of the battleship Maine, a second asking Congress to determine whether the wreck of the Spanish vessels sunk by the American navy shall be given away, and the third transmitting reports of engineers of surveys on the Gerat Lakes.

The Maine recommendation was by way of transmittal of the report of Secretary of War Stimson, who has recently investigated the work on the Maine and has urged an appropriation to complete it. The message regarding the Spanish war vessels grew out of a request of a Norwegian Wrecking Company to the Cuban government for permission to raise the wrecks. President Taft in his message pointed out that as these wrecks are the property of the United States, it rests with Congress to decide whether they shall be given away.

President Taft referred to Chief Engineer Bixby's estimate of $240, 000 for completing the work of raising the Maine and to Secretary of War Stimson's subsequent inspection, and report. He declared the United States would be derelict in its duty if it did not provide ample money to finish this task. The President added: "I concur fully in the conclusions which the Secretary of War has reached and in the recommendations which he makes in respect of an additional appropriation for this work that nothing may remain undone to enable the world to know the original cause of the explosion of the Maine."

The message regarding the Spanish vessels, sunk off Santiago, said the Norwegian Company asked Cuba's permission to raise the wrecks on a ten per cent. salvage basis. The President submitted an opinion of Secretary of State Knox who held: "The Department of State is inclined to the view that the Spanish ships destroyed by the United States forces in war on what was then Spanish territory, became the property of the vietors and passed with Spain's relinquishment of Cuba into the absolute possession of the United States."

COTTON TARIFF REVISION BILL

House Concurs in Senate Amendments and Sends It Over for President's Veto—Democrats Charged With Inconsistency.

Washington, Aug. 21.—After a perfunctory debate of four hours, the House late today concurred, 180 to 107 in the Senate amendments to the Underwood cotton tariff revision bill and sent that measure to President Taft.

The bill, which will be vetoed tomorrow and will be embraced in renewed tariff revision legislation next December, would have cut the cotton tariff on an average of 21 per cent. a valorem, and bare schedules, tacked on by the Senate reducing duties on iron and steel, cotton machinery and chemicals and providing reciprocal free admission of bituminous coal across the Canadian border.

The vote was along strict party lines except that eight Republican insurgents joined the Democrats. Most of the insurgents who have been voting with the majority on tariff measures stood with the regulars today, claiming that the Senate amendments had not been considered by a committee of either house.

The amended bill was considered today under a rule limiting debate to four hours and barring amendments. This rule, reported after unanimous consent, had been refused for a resolution to the same effect, was the target for forensic broadsides from Republicans, insurgents and regulars.

The Democrats were accused of returning to a "gag rule", which they vigorously denounced when in the minority. Democratic Leader Underwood replied to these attacks by declaring he had made the arrangement after a conference with Republican Leader Mann and Representative Payne, ranking Republican members of the Ways and Means Committee who had said that it would be entirely satisfactory.

The debate was not confined to the cotton bill or its amendment. The tariff generally and various other things were touched upon. Messrs. Underwood and Payne closed the discussion. Mr. Underwood said the amended bill was not just what the majority wanted, but it was the best that could be secured under the circumstances. He said it was absurd to ask that the representatives of the people wait on "the clerks and hirelings of the President" (the tariff board) before enacting tariff legislation.

The Republican insurgents voting for the bill were Davis, Lindberg, Volstead, Steenerson, of Minnesota; Hanna and Helgerson, North Dakota; Norris, Nebraska, and Lafferty, Oregon.

PARDON OF CAPT. HAINS.

Jurors Who Convicted Him Petition Governor in His Behalf.

New York, Aug. 21.—The jurors who convicted Captain Peter C. Hains, U. S. A., of the murder of William E. Annis, three years ago this month, it was learned today, have sent a petition to Governor Dix asking the pardon of Hains, who is now serving a sentence of from eight to 16 years in Sing Sing. The petition recalls that the jury at the time of the trial recommended clemency to the court, realizing that the provocation of Hains was great, and that they now believe that he has been punished enough.

Aaron Bearman drew up the petition and obtained the signatures of other jurymen, he says, "who express the greatest sympathy with the captain and his aged parents."

STRIKE ABATING IN UNITED KINGDOM

Truce Now in Effect on all Railway Lines Except One.

A LITTLE DISORDER IN DUBLIN

Questions at Issue Between Dockers and Shipowners at Liverpool—Things Gradually Becoming Normal—Some Incidents

London, Aug. 21.—The strike in the industrial world of the United Kingdom gradually is abating. With a truce in effect on all the railway lines except the London and Northeastern, the Board of Trade was occupied all today in an endeavor to reach an amicable arrangement between the employes of this line and the managers, and also in trying to settle the strike of the short-sea traders. It was announced tonight that both these controversies are now in line for early adjustment.

There is still much friction on some of the railroads over the impatience of strikers returning to work to be accorded full reinstatement to their old positions which in some cases have been given to men who remained loyal to the companies when the walk-out was declared. As a result there were several instances of disorder today in various parts of the Kingdom and decisions of small bodies of men to remain on strike.

Disorder in Dublin.

Dublin, Aug. 21. — Riots, growing out of the strike of newsboys were renewed tonight. The contents of several newspaper wagons were burned and there was some throwing. The police were compelled to make baton charges. This evening's newspapers could not be purchased on the streets. The offices of the newspapers are being strongly guarded.

Dockers and Shipowners

Liverpool, Aug. 21.—While the questions at times between the dockers and shipowners were settled at a conference held her today at the Cunard offices, a hitch over the men returning to work occurred tonight when the dockers refused to resume their duties until the railway and electric employes are reinstated. This new phase of the trouble, is considered only temporary and the dockers are expected shortly to return to work. Meanwhile the Lord Mayor has appealed to the Home Secretary not to relax the military and naval protection of Liverpool.

The General Situation

London, Aug. 21.—The railroads were rapidly restoring normal services today and the managers confidently expected that by evening all lines would be operating almost as smoothly as before the general strike on the roads of Great Britain was ordered last Thursday night.

There were some hitches, but these were believed to be but temporary obstacles to a formal pact assuring a better working arrangement between employers and employes satisfactory to both sides.

The settlement brought about Saturday evening through the good offices of the government and the board of trade provided for the appointment of sectional conciliation boards representing both parties which shall undertake to adjust all immediate differences. Tomorrow the membership of a special commission of inquiry will be announced. This commission will assume the burden of working out a permanent agreement.

The men expect an advance in wages, concessions regarding the consideration of future grievances and recognition of their unions. Heretofore the railroad companies have positively refused to treat with the representatives of the unions who were not in their own employ.

On the other hand the companies have been assured that at the next session of parliament the government will propose legislation providing that an increase in the cost of labor due to an improvement of conditions will be a justification for a reasonable advance of railway rates within the legal medium.

Men on the London & Northwestern road were still on strike today and there was some trouble on the Midland Railway. The Midland employes returning to work this morning found that in some cases they were not to be re-instated exactly in their old positions to which men who had remained loyal had been promoted. When the strikers discovered that they had lost their seniority they refused inferior positions pending a reference of the difficulty to the union executives.

Great numbers of guards, engineers, firemen and signal men returned to work at Manchester, but the porters, carters and freight handlers remained out.

Additional troops were sent to Manchester to assist in relieving the congestion of freight at the railway stations. Of 100,000 strikers at Liverpool more than one-third reported for work early today and the number increased hourly.

Thirty-Mile Wind for Benefit—Beachey First in Air.

Chicago, Aug. 21.—A wind that reached 30 miles an hour at times prevented all but a few aviators from trying to get into the air at the benefit performance for the widow of St. Croix Johnstone today. It had been announced that all the rules of the International Aviation meet would be declared off and that the flyers would be at liberty to risk their necks in any aerial feats they chose and as a consequence it was expected that the exhibition would be more spectacular than during the meet.

The wind proved too gusty and for several hours no one attempted to fly. Then Lincoln Beachey circled the field, descended and declared the wind was too strong for safe flying. An hour later Beachey, Gill, C. P. Rodgers and James Ward gave short exhibition flights.

KILLING IN SUMTER.

Sheriff Makes Arrest of Two Alleged Accessories.

Sumter, S. C., Aug. 21.—Deputy Sheriff J. S. Sykes has arrested and placed safely in custody Thomas Hennegan and his wife as accessories for the killing of Allan McCoy, which occurred about 12 o'clock Saturday night on Mr. G. Washington Mahoney's place, about five miles from Sumter.

The body was found buried about three-quarters of a mile from where the killing is supposed to have been committed in a pile of sawdust. The parties involved are negroes.

PAPKE AND BURKE.

Ten-Round Bout in New York Tonight Marquis of Queensbury.

New York, Aug. 21.—Billy Papke, the Illinois "Thunderbolt," who is claimant of the middleweight championship title, and "Sailor" Burke, the New York aspirant to the title, completed training periods of three weeks and six weeks respectively today for a ten-round fight here tomorrow night.

Papke has been training at Bath Beach and it was said tonight he would enter the ring weighing 160 pounds and in excellent shape. Burke, with twice as much training at a road house in the Bronx, is confident that he is in shape to make the most of the opportunity to meet Papke. The two met once before, three years ago, when Papke won the popular decision, although Burke came within an ace of winning when he put his man down in the third round.

It will be Papke's first appearance in this country since his return from England and Australia where he defeated Dave Smith and Jim Sullivan. Charley White will referee the bout and among the spectators will be the Marquis of Queensbury, who arrived here Saturday to make a study of sports in America.

KITCHIN AT GREENSBORO.

Executive Will Address Red Men and Probably Talk Politics.

Greensboro, August 21.—Governor Kitchin has accepted an invitation to make an address on "Fraternalism," before Eno Tribe of Red Men at Revolution Cotton Mills next Friday evening at 8 o'clock. This organization has about two hundred members, and it is expected that they will give him a crowded house. It is thought that at this time the Governor will begin the work of lining up his friends in the Senatorial race. He is especially strong in Guilford, and will probably receive more votes here than all the other candidates combined.

A great gathering of the farmers of Guilford, together with a number of townspeople held a meeting in the court house Saturday and strongly condemned the present meat inspection law of Greensboro and asked amendments to it. The city commissioners at their meeting Saturday afternoon postponed action on the request until Tuesday. The amendment sought is one that will allow farmers to kill and market cattle of their own raising and that no inspection of the cattle be required, the city inspector inspecting the meat and viscera of the dead animal when it is brought to town. This was the plan that was followed when the inspection law was first adopted, but a few weeks ago it was changed so that the live animal must be brought to town and inspected, then killed in a slaughter house, both at considerable expense to the farmer.

WEEKLY COTTON REVIEW.

Complaints of Shedding Are Caused by Lack of Rainfall.

Memphis, Aug. 21.—The Commercial Appeal's weekly cotton crow review says: Lack of rainfall in the Carolinas and a part of Georgia and in Texas and western Oklahoma, gives rise to complaints of shedding of a severe kind. The natural maturity of the plant is also being delayed and the crop will be exposed to danger from frost if the rains continue.

Preceding the inauguration of this drought in the extreme East and the Southwest, and heavy rains in the Central States, the plant was well fruited and comparatively early in growth, so that although the loss has been rather heavy during the past two weeks, the promise is still good to fair. On the bright side it is also worthy of note that in many localities showers have been numerous.

Except in Texas and South Carolina, but little cotton picking has been done and the bolls are opening slowly, because of the continued growth of the plant, due to the rains. The boll weevils in south Mississippi and Alabama now are sufficient to stop further picking.

Texas correspondents report that a good soaking rain within the next week will restore much of the loss.

CAMP PERRY SHOOT

Two Matches Hotly Contested Yesterday—Ohioans Leading

Camp Perry, Ohio, Aug. 21.—The seventh day of the National Shoot closed with two of the important matches of the event hotly contested, the presidents and individual, the winning of which counts in the national individual championship and the Herrick, a team match of eight men from the several States. The President's watch was started with the skirmish 481 of the best rifle shots in the country competing. The first stage results in a bunch of rifle men from the regular service team's leading. Lieutenant A. Rutherford, of the United States Infantry, made a perfect score of 100. He kept this lead at the 200-yard slow fire, pulling out a 46. Although he scored but 47 at the 600-yard, he had one point above the next highest man.

Tomorrow the contest will be completed at 200 yards rapid fire and 1,000 yards slow fire. At the short rapid fire range there is always a chance for a re-arrangement of relative position, the chance being almost as great as at the skirmish.

Ohio's eight-man team, in the Herrick trophy match, a contest at the 800, 900 and 1,000-yard ranges with any military, any ammunition and fifteen shot scores, lead the 33 teams entered by a record breaking score, lacking only five points of possible at the 800-yard range, the only one shot today, having 595 out of a possible 600. The army infantry was next with 582 and Massachusetts was third, with 578.

Only one match was completed, the championship revolver team match, which was won bythe first squadron of Colorado cavalry with a total of 1,076 against 1,069, the team of squadron A, New York.

CHARGES OF MISCONDUCT.

Indian Commissioner and His Assistant Accused of Fraud.

Washington, Aug. 21.—Joseph R. Farr, formerly general superintendent for logging in the Indian service, who recently sued Commissioner of Indian Affairs Robert G. Valentine, for slander and libel, has filed with the Senate and House Committee on Indian affairs charges of misconduct in office against Valentine, and C. F. Hauke, second commissioner of Indian affairs.

Farr alleges that Valentine and Hauke have conspired with each other and with other persons for the perpetration of a fraud upon certain Indian allottees of the Lac Du Flambeau reservations in Wisconsin.

LATEST SCHEME FOR ARMY.

Gen. Wood Wants to Separate Continental and Insular Forces.

Washington, Aug. 21.—The United State army is likely to be divided into a continental and an insular force. Major General Leonard Wood, chief of staff, is developing a plan for establishing, permanent regimental commands in the Philippines to take the place of the present expensive one of transporting entire regiments to and from the islands every two years.

Under the new plan officers will be sent out to the island regiments or ordered home as is now done in the case of naval officers assigned to or detached from duty with a vessel on a foreign station.

ANTI-JEWISH RIOTS

Recurrence of Brutalities by Hooligans at Tredegar

Newport, Monmouthshire, Eng. Aug. 21.—There was a recurrence tonight at Tredegar of the unaccountable anti-Jewish riots which broke out Saturday night in which 18 Jewish shops were wrecked and looted by a savage mob of Hooligans. The trouble spread tonight to Ebbvale and Rhymney where Jewish shops also were wrecked. Thirty persons were injured in baton charges by the police.

Excessive Heat Yesterday Not So Favorable for Him.

Rome, Aug. 21.—A return of the oppressive heat wave today prevented Pope Pius from taking an intended outing in the vatican gardens. Despite the rise in the temperature, however, His Holiness heard mass and conversed with Cardinal Merry del Val, the Papal Secretary of State, and afterwards worked longer at his desk than at any time since he has been ill.

WHITE MAN DROWNED.

Fell Into Cinder Pit Between A. C. L. Tracks.

Chas. Harrison, white, aged about 25 years, whose home is in the southern section of the city, was drowned in a cinder pit under the A. C. L. track near the coal chute last night at about 11:30 o'clock. Harrison leaves a wife and several children.

The man had been dringing during the night and when he went across the A. C. L. track near the coal chute and fell into the cinder pit he was either too drunk or was unable to swim, and after a short struggle was drowned. The water in the pit was about seven feet deep. A negro in the vicinity heard Harrison's cries and secured help and hastened to the pit. However, when they arrived the man was already dead. They took the body from the pit and notified the police. Sergeant Grimsley went to the scene and a little later notified Dr. C. D. Bell, the coroner, who went at once to the spot. After making an examination Dr. Bell gave permission to move the body, but at time of going to press it had not been decided as to whether it would be taken to Harrison's home in South Wilmington, or to an undertaker's.

Harrison was the proprietor of a fish cart, it is said.

New York, Aug. 21.—Response to inquiries sent to all the governors, asking for their views on the desirability of uniform divorce laws, twenty-three have replied declaring themselves in favor of uniformity. Four governors who could not be reached were said by representatives to favor, Hadley, Missouri, and Hoke Smith, Georgia, declined to express an opinion. Many of the governors declared for Federal regulation. The question is to be threshed out at the coming conference of governors at Spring Lake, N. J.

AFFAIRS AT STATE CAPITAL

Commissioner Graham Asked to Assemble Agricultural Officials of Cotton—Growing States—Scarcity of Labor.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Raleigh, N. C., Aug. 21.—Commissioner of Agriculture Graham has been appealed to by a number of the commissioners of cotton growing States, of which there are 13, to call a special conference of the commissioners to look into the status of the cotton crop and form some estimate of the prospective yield and the average quality.

The appeal comes to him because he is vice president of the Association of Commissioners and Agricultural Workers of the cotton growing States, the president being Dr. Tait Butler, of Alabama, who is not a commissioner. Major Graham does not think well of the advisability of holding such a conference. For himself he declares that he could not form any accurate estimate of the cotton conditions in this State owing to the very "spotted" condition of the crop through scattered rains. There are sections, he says where all crops are as fine in this State as were ever known, but there are numbers of others in which local droughts have cut down the prospective yield very greatly. This applies to corn and other crops as well as cotton.

There is so much building going on in Raleigh and so many contracts for new work pending that the scarcity of labor is developing a very serious situation. Raleigh has never been known to have so much building under way at one time and the volume, too, is increasing steadily until work on numbers of contracts is almost at a standstill on this account. Rush work that is being done on the Yarborough Hotel, in the erection of the seven-story new hotel to be run by Mr. Ricks and others of Rocky Mount, and in the erection of the Vass building for the McKimmon Dry Goods Co., is making heavy drafts on available labor and other contracts that include the new marble banking house of The Raleigh Banking & Trust Co., the municipal building and innumerable residences and similar contracts are having the hardest sort of time in gathering working forces. The situation is considered quite serious and no solution of the trouble seems to be in sight and other towns in this and adjacent States are said to be in position to furnish little if any relief owing to ample volume of work to keep workmen at home.

Dr. Olsen West, secretary of the hookworm commission for Tennessee, has been in North Carolina the past week looking into the operation and results of the free hookworm dispensaries that are being so successfully operated in this State under the direction of Dr. Jno. A. Ferrell, secretary in charge of the hookworm campaign in this State. Dr. West says he expects to inaugurate a similar free dispensary campaign in his State at once. It is a notable fact that in North Carolina 13 counties have already made the necessary appropriations for the operation of these dispensaries and they are to be provided by Dr. Ferrell just as rapidly as possible.

The People's Trading Co., of Rowland, is chartered for a mercantile business with $25,000 capital authorized and $4,100 subscribed by W. D. Bullock, P. F. McGirt and others. There is also a charter for The Nance Co., Lumberton, capital $25,000 for a mercantile business. The principal incorporator is D. E. Nance.

This afternoon there was brought before Judge W. R. Allen, at Goldsboro, a proceeding for writ of mandamus against the Wake County Commissioners to compel them to pay the fees of Dr. J. J. L. McCullers, as county physician, through the arbitrary appointment of Secretary Rankin, of the State board of health, after the commissioners and School Board had failed to agree on a county physician and his salary. The commissioners refuse to recognize Dr. McCullers as county physician and the contest has already developed several sensational features, including the debarring of Dr. McCullers from the county institutions when he seeks to enter in his capacity as county physician. The State Board prescribed a scale of fees for Dr. McCullers in lieu of $2,500 salary that the county School Board fixed and the commissioners refused to allow. Under this Dr. McCullers' fees for two weeks in July aggregated $88.50.

$100,000 FIRE IN KINSTON

Carriage Works, Tobacco Warehouses and Residences Destroyed

Kinston, N. C., Aug. 20.—Fire broke out about 4 o'clock this morning in the Ellis carriage works, almost in the heart of the business district of this city, and before being subdued destroyed property to the value of $100,000 or more. The fire started in the planer room of the factory, on the ground floor, and because of the highly combustible nature of the contents of the building, was soon a raging conflagration, which entirely destroyed the immense structure.

The Farmers' Warehouse, in which considerable tobacco had been stored by farmers, preparatory to the opening sales next week, was also destroyed. Two stores adjoining the Ellis factory, belonging to J. A. Pridgen, with their contents, and two small dwellings across Gordon street, facing the factory building, were destroyed with all furniture.

About 5 o'clock the firemen gained control of the flames, and were assisted shortly thereafter by a torrential downpour of rain. A partial estimate of the losses is: The Ellis Carriage Works, finished vehicles, machinery and materials, $80 000; insurance, $35,000; two stores of J. A. Pridgen, $5,000, insurance $3,000; the Farmers' Warehouse, $10,000, insurance $5,000; two small dwellings and a warehouse, containing farming implements, about $3,000, with $2,000 insurance.

The fire started in about the same spot as the big fire of 1895, which wiped out the entire business section of the city, and, like that one, is believed to have been of incendiary origin.

ROCKY POINT NEWS.

Rains Damaging Crops—Big Picnic This Week—Notes.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Rocky Point, N. C., Aug. 21.—Although August is but two-thirds gone the general appearance of the sky betokens September equinoxial weather. The surf of the ocean can be heard several miles distant, betokening a continued stormy spell. The crop of mosquitoes heretofore scarce are now putting in their bills for more blood.

Fodder pulling is much delayed on account of the showers, and a big quantity pulled last week is on the stalks rotten.——Peanuts are taking on a second growth since heavy rains have begun.——The sweet potato crop is being damaged by the vines taking root between the rows on account of the wet grounds. The cotton crop is shedding badly, both forms and squares. The dog tongue pickers are feeling the effects of the rain, too, since it will not dry out. Prices, however, are good—4c per pound.

The "melancholy days" will soon be over as the crop is almost exhausted. The scuppernong, James and Pamlico grapes will soon come—an unusual crop in prospect. When ripe the odor will fill the air with a rich aroma and more dollars will be gathered into the farmers' purses. The price will range from $1.00 to $1.25 per bushel.

Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Armstrong and Mr. J. E. Durham have just returned from a week's outing in the mountains near Asheville, and report a nice time with an abundant crop of 'simmons in prospect.

There will be a big picnic held on the "sand hills" near Cappen Henry Shaw's Thursday, and a pleasant outing is promised those in attendance. Nearby can be seen the old historic site of "Lillington Hall," the cemetery, mammoth magnolias and the old "Garden of Eden" gate posts. The steamer Duplin will take passengers to Gregory landing, right at the spot. The managers, Messrs. Henry Shaw, A. M. Bowden, C. F. Davis and G. W. Meeks will see to it that each young man having an eye single, shall have the one of his choice to dance with, while those who do not care to "trip the light fantastic toe" will be regaled by hearing an oratorical address on "Historic Pender" by Wilmington's most gifted speaker, Wm. Stacy. Within the bounds of Greater Rocky Point were the hot beds of the Revolution, where strong men whose deeds will always stand out and adorn the pages of the history of the struggle for American independence. Come to this picnic. See the home and the tomb of the Patriot Lillington, the hero of Moore's Creek. Take a bigger grip on patriotism for your country.

Mr. Geo. Sanders, of Sumter, S. C., and Capt. John H. Sharpe are visiting Rocky Point. Mr. Sanders is a large planter and is much pleased with the crop outlook here.

NEGRO SHOT DOWN.

Ran From the Sheriff and Drug Clerk Brought Him Low.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Goldsboro, N. C., Aug. 21.—This afternoon Sheriff Edwards saw three white men and a negro in the rear of the jail, engaged in a pretty game of craps. He crept upon them and recognized the three white men, but did not know the negro, ordered them all under arrest, they being so busily engaged in the intricacies of the African game, that they did not notice his approach which so suddenly brought their enjoying a sociability run for their money to an end. The negro waited not to see about what became of his companions but "broke and ran" and the sheriff gave him chase, which led through the business section of the city, where the negro was finally captured after being shot down by an outsider who was also giving chase. The officer shot three times in the ground with the purpose of causing him to stop, but the negro only ran the faster up Chestnut street to the Elks' building and through their property out to Centre street and up Centre street to Walnut through the alley into Dewey's machinery yard, creating great excitement as he ran. Young Burke Privett, a drug clerk, seeing the criminal was escaping gathered his pistol and joined the chase, headed the negro as the latter was running out of Dewey's yard into West Centre street where Privett opened fire upon him, the sheriff crying to him "don't shoot him." But the shooting was done so quickly that it was all over before the sheriff's cry could be heard. Three shots were fired and the negro felt and his wounds are serious. The sheriff quickly summoned a physician and had the negro who is still unknown, removed to a physician's office, where all possible relief was administered to him and later he was taken to the Goldsboro hospital. Young Mr. Privett, who in the excitement and on the spur of the moment did what he thought was his duty, but what in fact is a serious violation of the law.

ANTEDELUVIAN MONSTER.

Unearthed Near Petersburg, Va.—An interesting Curiosity.

Petersburg, Va., Aug. 21.—The skeleton of the rare prehistoric animal, the diplodocus, a specimen of a sauropodus dinosaur, has been found on the Kenneth W. Harris farm near this city. The skeleton is about 40 feet in length, and across the vertebrae measures about six inches.

The body was discovered in the bottom of a branch which had about dried up from the drought and was embedded in a marl soil. The length of the skeleton and peculiar formation excited Mr. Harris' attention and the matter was taken up with several museums of natural history.

SEVERE STORM IN COLUMBUS

Worst Wind, Rain and Hail Storm in Years—Editor Larry Gantt Back From Extended Trip South. Other News Notes.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Whiteville, N. C., Aug. 21.—Sunday morning about 2:30 o'clock Whiteville was visited by one of the worst rain and hail storms ever known here. Information has not come in as yet as to the damage done in the county but the local damages were numerous, though none of a very serious nature.

Every smoke stack of the Whiteville Lumber Co., was blown to the ground as well as damage done to the planing mill, which will necessitate the closing down of the mill for at least a week. The residence of Mr. Ed Maultsby, which was under construction, was blown to the ground. This is the second occurrence of this mishap in the past few months. It will be remembered that Mr. H. F. Schulken's store was also blown to the ground. A large tree fell on the residence of Mr. J. R. Williamson, breaking a hole in the side of the home and knocking down some chimneys. Chimneys were also blown down on the homes of Mr. P. H. Sears and Dr. Crowell. This seems to be the most serious, though there are a number of minor damages not noted. The storm was evidently worst in the south section of town as there was nothing of consequence to happen in the court house part, except a heavy rain and some hail.

Editor T. Larry Gantt returned Sunday from his vacation in the mountains and at Spartanburg. Mr. Gantt gained over seven pounds during his two weeks' trip, and reports a royal good time. In October a party of leading farmers and business men will visit him at Whiteville and spend a week looking over the country, with a view of investing in farming lands. Later on a party of capitalists and mill men will visit him. Mr. Gantt says he intends to take those gentlemen to Wilmington and show them the coming city of the South Atlantic and Gulf. To show the advance in property in Spartanburg county Mr. Gantt owned something over 1,100 acres of land, which he sold some seven years ago. Had he held on to it it would today bring $175,000 more than he received for same. Mr. Gantt arranged while in Spartanburg to embark in the real estate business in Whiteville, and has the promise of all necessary backing. Mr. Bruce Pierce will be associated with him.

Mr. Gantt during his travels passed over 500 miles of country and says that cotton is a practical failure. From Charlotte to Rutherfordton he says cotton will not average a bale to seven acres. He traveled in a buggy over upper Spartanburg and crops are cut off one-half or more. It is the same from Spartanburg to Columbia, and as far as Sumter county, S. C., where they begin to improve. He met a gentleman who had traveled from Birmingham, Ala., and he reports short crops all along the road. The people are everywhere denouncing Secretary Wilson for his exaggerated reports of the crop, and the general impression is that the yield will not much exceed last year.

DICK GAUSE RESPITED

Wilmington Negro Charged With Murder Gets Executive Clemency

(Special Star Telegram.)

Raleigh, N. C., Aug. 21.—Dick Gause, under sentence from Pender County Superior Court, to be electrocuted August 25th, for the murder of Ed Gibson, in a Wilmington dive, March 20th, is respited by Governor Kitchin to September 22nd, so his attorney, E. H. Bland, of Goldsboro, can prepare his appeal for commutation to life imprisonment. The plea will be that Gause was convicted on testimony of the vilest negro women, one of whom brought about the fight in which Gibson was killed; also that when under influence of whiskey or cocaine as was the case that night, Gause is really insane and irresponsible. Conviction and death sentences were in a special July term of court held by Judge Ferguson.

DON'T EXPERIMENT

You Will Make No Mistake If You Follow This Wilmington Citizen's Advice.

Never neglect your kidneys.

If you have pain in the back, urinary disorders, dizziness and nervousness, it's time to act and no time to experiment. These are all symptoms of kidney trouble, and you should seek a remedy which is known to act on the kidneys.

Doan's Kidney Pills is the remedy to use. No need to experiment. It has helped many people in Wilmington. Follow the advice of a Wilmington citizen and be benefitted yourself.

Capt. A. W. Wilson, 402 S. Fifth street, Wilmington, N. C., says: "I am pleased to confirm my former endorsement of Doan's Kidney Pills. I use this remedy occasionally and it always brings the best of results. I had lumbago and lameness in my loins and plasters and liniments did not help me to any extent. I heard so much about Doan's Kidney Pills that I finally got a box at Bellamy's drug store and began their use. They cured me and all the aches and pains caused by my kidneys disappeared. I shall never fail to recommend Doan's Kidney Pills when I have an opporutnity."

For sale by all dealers. Price, 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

S.S.S. CURES OLD BLOOD DISEASES

Contagious Blood Poison is responsible for a great many old blood troubles, such as scrofulous affections, skin eruptions, catarrhal troubles, Rheumatism, ulcerating sores, etc. There is no such thing as ridding the system of these effects by killing the poisonous germs. Any medicine powerful enough to accomplish this would also destroy many of the delicate linings and tissues, and wreck the constitution. The only way to cure old blood troubles is to REMOVE the cause from the circulation, and for this purpose nothing is equal to S. S. S. It goes into the blood, and drives out every taint and poison, and makes this vital fluid pure, rich and nourishing. S. S. S. has long been known as the greatest of all blood purifiers and many thousands have rid themselves of old blood diseases by its use. It ALWAYS removes the impurity from the blood and cures these old disorders, whether inherited or acquired. Book on the blood and any medical advice free to all. S. S. S. is sold at drug stores.

If it is a good thing to do, do it while it ought to be done.

Talking about luck, what more should a man want than to be investigated and get off?

A story writer says: "He pressed a burning kiss upon her cheek." A "buss" like that might be called combustion.

"A thing of beauty is a joy forever," According to Nat Goodwin's book he found that four things of beauty were not joys forever.

The "stepping stones to success" are plenty of "rocks," and the best way to have them is to deposit regularly in some savings bank.

Men wear hats that are exactly the same and are satisfied, but if a woman sees another wearing a hat like her's she'll sell it to the cook.

The New Orleans States calls Col. Roosevelt "the great four flusher." What difference does that make since he persists in playing solitaire?

President Taft will have to take care of himself from now on. He once endorsed Aldrich—now let Aldrich come forward and return the compliment.

When Mr. Taft lays aside the duties of the Presidency in 1917 there will be a splendid opening for him at the head of the international council table at The Hague.—Washington Post.

"Congress has finished its work" says a newspaper dispatch. That is, it finished Taft's work, and then worked overtime, but its own work was undone by one stroke of the veto pen of President Taft.

We do not know which is the most dangerous, the mosquito or the fly, but swat both and be on the safe side. Somehow or other we like the size of the fly because it can't get through the net like a narrow gauge mospuito.

Says the Rochester Herald: "Russell Sage's parsimony is recalled by the death in poverty of the man who saved his life. In death, however, they are equal." Yes, but who wants to have to die to get even with the chinchy element?

In vetoing tariff revision bills, President Taft is standing squarely up to the Aldrich tariff law which he once declared was the best of them all. He is practicing what he preached, although his party went to grass on that issue in November, 1910.

By having President Taft's Winona speech printed as a part of the argument in favor of revising the wool schedule, the Democrats fired the President's own bomb at him. It places him in the attitude of having to put up some kind of defense against himself.

"What does Taft's veto of tariff revision legislation mean?" inquires a contemporary. It means that he is a stand-patter and that he can be depended upon by the interests. If the people want tariff revision they will have to elect a President who won't veto bills passed in the interest of the masses.

Statistics are splendid but in a great many instances guess-work is passed off for statistics. Not so long ago the United States Agricultural Department gathered a crop of 14,500,000 bales of cotton, whereas in many fields the seed had not even come up, while in others the plant was shriveled from drought and in most others it was smaller and more backward than the crop has been for years.

THE CASE OF DR. WILEY

In the attempt to get rid of Dr. H. W. Wiley, chief of the bureau of chemistry, United States Agricultural Department, one more scandal for the Republican administration was brought to the surface. The investigation, which was brought about in the attempt to discredit and embarrass a most efficient and useful scientist engaged in vitally important work, reveals a situation which calls for somebody to go instead of the chief chemist.

Dr. Wiley's work exposed frauds and adulterations practised by concerns with millions of dollars invested in swindling the public and even endangering the health or lives of the people. It is these interests that have been fighting Dr. Wiley and it is these commercial freebooters who were backed by men engaged in the Agricultural Department. The honest, legitimate manufacturers of the United States have no complaint against Dr. Wiley. Those who manufacture pure and meritorious drugs, chemicals, foods, fertilizers and other commercial articles all uphold the work he has been doing in protecting the public from fraud and imposition that is not only of a purely swindling character but in many instances is of a highly deleterious and dangerous nature. Thus we find in the Oil Paint and Drug Reporter, of August 21st, this editorial reference to this scandal: "President Taft will have to render judgment on the charges brought against Dr. Wiley one of these days, but his trial is at an end and the decision has been rendered as far as the great court of public opinion is concerned. When Dr. Wiley got into the witness box in Washington with all restrictions on what he might tell removed by the sovereign power of Congress, the expected happened. His testimony consists of one long but graphic tale of prosecutions stifled, evidence suppressed, documents garbled and even judgments altered at the behest of those who had the ear of "the man higher up." As an exposure of the inner workings of a great department, this story ranks in public interest with the "Star Route" case in the Grant administration, though the treasury of the nation has not suffered any serious loss in this instance. It appears that the letter from Dr. Rusby, on which Attorney-General Wickersham based his recommendation for Dr. Wiley's virtual dismissal, was no letter at all, it never having been sent to or received by him. Moreover, the important saving clause in it, "subject to the approval of the department," was omitted in the copy given out for publication by the personnel board. Was it so garbled in the case laid before President Taft? It seems certain that his Attorney-General was misled in this matter."

The Oil Paint and Drug Reporter is a trade journal of high reputation and it is one of the most able as well as reliable of the great technical publications of this country. The above view of the exposure brought out at Washington certainly reveals an alarming as well as scandalous condition of affairs in a great government department that urgently requires a thorough overhauling. This is one of the most serious of exposures made in government circles and if it doesn't constitute the equal of the Augean stables what does? The reputable journal from which we quote goes on to say:

"Dr. Wiley has had a chance to tell how he would conduct prosecutions under the Pure Food and Drugs Act. He has exposed the wastefulness, the delay and something still worse in the workings of the Department of Agriculture. Dr. Wiley assured the committee that he would enforce the pure food laws with the assistance of a single law officer and a stenographer at one hundredth of the cost now being incurred by Solicitor McCabe in the same work. Dr. Wiley may be mistaken sometimes, but those whom he accuses of violating the pure food laws have the benefit of open trials before unprejudiced tribunals. Such trials would be in the light of day, however, and some dread that light more than the imposition of small fines. The people at large want men in public office who will serve them fearlessly and willingly."

The people ought to see to it that they are served by such men as Dr. Wiley. They should stand back of the fearless chief chemist, and when the time comes they should install at Washington an administration which will back him instead of seeking to destroy him.

THE HEALTH OF SCHOOL CHILDREN.

While all these crusades are going on against the "hook", tuberculosis, etc., the bad teeth problem should also come in for its share of renewed attention. An eminent English dentist came over to this country a few years ago and stirred up the country on the great misfortune of raising people without good teeth enough to give them a showing in the world. He examined the teeth of children in numerous schools in the North and made the startling discovery that the majority of them had bad teeth—such defective teeth, in fact, that the defect not only injured them physically, causing a lack of facial development and bodily strength, but actually retarded their mental development. Many American physicians followed up the suggestion of the great English dentist and the school authorities in many Northern cities adopted a system of having the teeth of children in the public schools examined, so the attention of their parents could be called to the defective teeth of their children or that some means might be provided for dental treatment for children whose parents could not afford to have their teeth attended to.

This question of bad teeth is no fad. It is a sound and practical policy that should be adopted in all the schools of this country. Even if children have good teeth, they should be instructed by their parents how to preserve them or they should learn something about it at school. More than 50 per cent. of the people in this country lose some of their principal teeth before they are 25 years old and it is because they were neglected when they were children. While children are young they should have their teeth carefully looked after at home and in school and when they grow up they will be appreciative of the great blessing which teeth inspection as well as sanitary precautions vouchsafed them.

The health department of the New York City public school system two years ago had an examination of the teeth of public school children with a view to scientifically determine the effect of bad teeth on the physical and mental strength of the children. Thirty-nine thousand children were examined and it was ascertained that the pupils with defective teeth do not make near as much progress as children with good teeth, those with bad teeth requiring twice the time to graduate and their education being doubly more expensive than that of children with teeth that had been properly cared for. The conclusion reached was that as a mere matter of business economy, New York City can better afford to employ a dentist than to go on struggling in the effort to school defective children.

The teeth of children as well as their health need looking after. The matter of health used to be neglected, but it is now receiving also strict attention, and sooner or later the inspection of teeth will also be a part of the school work throughout this country. It will prevent disease and suffering in years to come, besides being of immediate benefit to children while they are getting the rudiments of an education. We heard one of our Wilmington doctors say recently that many cases which he treats can be traced to bad teeth, as serious trouble has been brought about because his patients didn't have sufficient teeth to masticate their food, although they were by no means classed as aged people.

We believe some attention has been given to this matter in the public schools of Wilmington. We hope it was not spasmodic but will be a continuing policy of our school authorities. As it is nearly time for the schools to open it is hoped a serious duty will be made of the matter of looking after the teeth of the children, as well as to their general health and especially as to sanitary conditions at the various school houses. Before the schools open, there should be a careful sanitary inspection of the buildings and the water supply.

RAILWAY GARDENING

The Railway Gardening Association is a new one of the hundreds of associations in this country. It seems to have been originated by the railroad companies and its purpose is to border railroad rights of way with hedges, flowers and vegetables of various kinds. Some of the richest plots of land in the country are right along the railway lines, and even if the railroads cannot make their entire lines look like a continuous garden and truck farm, they certainly can beautify many localities that are easily susceptible of producing a great variety of flowers and vegetables.

We do not know exactly what the plans of the railroads are but we conceive that it is mainly "a railroad beautiful" scheme. We regard it as a capital idea, and it reminds us that years ago the Seaboard Air Line with Captain John T. Patrick as industrial agent, got up and to considerable extent carried out plans for securing pretty flower plots at its stations in the Carolinas. In traveling along the Seaboard one frequently beheld many beauty spots which were evolved from a plan offering prizes to employes for the prettiest plots along the line.

Throughout the country there are hundreds of acres of fine lands along the rights of way of the railroads, and while it may be impracticable to improve all the spots, we are inclined to believe that some of our railroads would find right-of-way farming profitable in more ways than one. We do not think many people would object if the railroads were to have demonstration flower and vegetable farms along their lines, and make them self-sustaining by sales of flowers and vegetable products to pay the expenses of those who necessarily must be in charge of the beauty spots and vegetable farms.

Anyhow, a never-ending flower scene as one travels certainly would make railway travel more interesting and enjoyable.

CURRENT COMMENT.

It's too bad that our congressmen don't get their educations before they come to Washington instead of afterward—Washington Post.

We notice that the Hon. E. J. Justice is also out making big speeches and from the way the straws are blowing he would also like to occupy the Governor's mansion for the next four years. Mr. Justice is one of the ablest as well as one of the cleanest men in the Democratic party, and if he does get in the race he is going to give Locke Craig a run for his money.—Clinton News-Dispatch (Rep.)

"The Columbia Record observes: 'Governor Judson Harmon has notified Chairman Maynard, of the Democratic city committee of Boston that he will be present at the Democratic pow-wow and outing, to be held on September 9th.' "Pow-wow sounds good, but we shy the word outing. We want to see a Democratic inning with Casey at the bat."—Wilmington Star. We thought Casey had been at the bat most of the time recently. Anyway, it has been three, no four, strikes and out. What we want to see at the bat is a man who can knock a home run.—Raleigh Times.

Those women editors of the Southport News have "blood in their eye" for the male members of the journalistic profession of the State. We want to assure them that there is no editorial combine against Southport. If they will cause to be arrested, sidetracked or ditched, for awhile the threatened doom, we think it will be possible to persuade the backward quill pushers to give Southport her just deserts. In the meantime we hope to see the town grow, as it deserves to grow. As an evidence of our good faith, we are publishing what the Southport editors have to say about their town, together with their criticism of the up-State editors.—Raleigh Times.

MR. CRONSTREAM WRITES

Disposition of Sewerage and Garbage in the City—Observations.

Editor Star:—As there are so many ideas and opinions in regard to the disposal of the sewerage and garbage from this city, allow me to present my idea on the subject. Of course, it will cost a lot of money, but remember that you cannot obtain anything for nothing except hookworm, typhoid fever and the like. As I am not educated enough to go into details, I will simply outline my idea, leaving the details to be worked out by those who have made such work a life study.

Survey a straight line from Smith's Creek to the Atlantic ocean, make such line as short as practicable and dig a canal from said creek to the ocean, then build in said canal a mammoth concrete pipe and from said pipe build two walls 8 or 10 feet apart, one mile out in the ocean. Build towers eight feet high every mile or so to use as air holes and at or near the Smith's Creek end and place one, two or more gates, put a man in charge of said gates, to open and close them as the tide rises or falls to prevent sewerage from flowing into Smith's Creek. Then let the sewer pipes empty into the canal and for each 8 or 10 blocks have a hole to dump garbage into the concrete canal. As the water from Smith's Creek will rush through the concrete canal as fast as a mill race it will clean out the canal and drive all the stuff one mile out into the ocean, and I hardly think that much of any would ever reach land again. But if it did, it would be so mixed up with salt water that it could not be noticed with the naked eye. Make the concrete canal wide and deep enough so that working parties can get in with a small boat and make repairs, etc. As I mentioned before, such a work will cost money but not more than any other system, but it will, if built properly, last till judgment day and then some time longer and it will be large enough for Wilmington even if the city were to grow beyond Wrightsboro. It will also settle that bothersome sewer and garbage fuss and give officials an opportunity to take their friends on a trip of investigation by boat which I believe will be cheaper than by automobile. If the charter of Wilmington forbids the city to purchase land outside the city limits, order the Legislature to change the charter so that the city can buy land anywhere the city needs it. I may be mistaken but I think the canal will be deep enough in the ground so that after it is built, the ground can be leveled back over it again and be planted on. In that case I do not think the city would have to buy the land but would simply have to pay each land owner for the use of the strip of land for a few months while they were building the anal.

Hoping that all who are interested in the above will consider and reconsider this, I remain yours truly,

WILLIAM CROWNSTREAM.

President Signed Statehood Resolution at White House Yesterday

Washington, Aug. 21.—President Taft signed the joint resolution for the admission of New Mexico and Arizona into the union at 3:08 P. M. Senator Penrose, Representatives Weeks, of Massachusetts, and Barchfield, of Pennsylvania, the delegates of the two territories and a number of other citizens from New Mexico and Arizona, witnessed the signing. There was but one resolution so that the President used three different pens in order that some of the relic hunters might be satisfied.

When the resolution was laid on his desk he looked up at the crowd and said: "Has anybody read this?" Nobody answered and to make certain of it, the President read the resolution to himself.

"Well gentlemen, it's done," he said, as he put the last stroke on the parchment.

The resolution signed by the President provides that Arizona shall eliminate the judiciary recall clause in its constitution.

ONE NEGRO SHOOTS ANOTHER

Within a block of the scene of the murder Saturday night and within 27 hours after that horrible crime, Johnny Leach, colored, was shot in the back and seriously wounded by "Boss" Scarborough, also colored, about 20 years old, Sunday night at 10 o'clock at a restaurant conducted by Ernest Lyon, corner Eighth and Nixon streets. The shooting is said to have followed a dispute as to which of the two was the best man, the controversy really arising from a gambling game, it is thought by the police.

Mounted Officers Frank George and J. H. Davis were only half a block away and were attracted to the scene by the report of the pistol shots. They found Leach lying on the ground where he had fallen some two blocks away, having run that distance after being shot. The wounded negro was sent to the hospital and the officers then busied themselves in searching for Scarborough, but were unable to locate him during the night, Officer George learned that the two negroes and probably one or two others were gambling and that Scarborough tried to get Leach to return some money he had won, then the conversation drifted to a discussion of the prowess of each, with the result that Scarborough pulled out his pistol and fired at Leach, who was then in the front part of the place. He then ran through the restaurant and as he was going out the back door he was wounded in the back, near the shoulder, by a second bullet from Scarborough's revolver.

Scarborough was arrested early yesterday morning at Front and Red Cross streets by Officer M. L. Moore. It is thought that Scarborough was on his way to the union station to go away on an early train. When the case was called in the Recorder's court yesterday morning it was stated that Leach would probably not be able to leave the hospital until the latter part of the week. The case was continued until tomorrow and Scarborough was committed to the county jail without bond, as there is some doubt of the recovery of Leach. Ernest Lyon, at whose place the shooting occurred, was arrested and held as a witness. The Recorder gave instructions that he be committed to jail until the trial unless $50 bond is furnished.

Mary Wilkes, colored, was tried for disorderly conduct. She offered no defense and evidence against her was conclusive. Assistant City Attorney Peschau asked for a farm sentence, stating that charges could also be brought against the woman for malicious injury to personal property. Thirty days on the county farm was the sentence imposed. Chas. A. Yates, a white man, was drunk and very disorderly near Front street market house Sunday evening, making it lively for two patrolmen who had him in charge. Chief of Police Fowler came upon the scene while the two officers were struggling with Yates, who was using vile language with great rapidity. Failing in an effort to get the man to stop cursing and not desiring to create any more excitement than possible, the officers took the man in an alley until the arrival of the patrol. The full penalty of the law was imposed—$20 and costs.

Bessie Williams, a mulatto, whom the testimony showed had acted in a most unladylike manner, was called upon to answer two charges—drunkenness and resisting an officer. Deputy Sheriff Melvin Horne testified to her disgraceful conduct in front of some soldiers, he said they were, and of the display of her prowess after he had placed her under arrest. She was given three months on the county farm for resisting an officer and judgment was suspended in the other case.

Wood Pate, colored, was given 30 days on the county roads for attempting to beat his way on a railroad train. He was found by Patrolman Chas. E. Wood Saturday afternoon under a Pullman on the Seaboard train. The Recorder stated that if the negro could raise the amount of a fine, he would release him upon payment of $10 and costs.

For disorderly conduct on a train at the union station Sunday afternoon Richard Monroe, who appears to be a respectable negro man, was given a hearing, the evidence being insufficient to substantiate the charge. There was some evidence that the negro had a knife in his hands and made threats at some one, the witness did not know who, and the Recorder instructed the prosecuting attorney to draw a warrant charging assault with deadly weapon. A nol pros with leave was taken in the disorderly conduct case. Monroe, it appears, was with his wife and started to go to Halisboro, when the trouble occurred on the train just before leaving time. The defendant is represented by W. P. Stacy and Wm. J. Bellamy, Esqs.

Assistant City Attorney Peschau stated that he did not think it the proper thing to do to take a nol pros in the dog cases where the tax had been paid and badge secured since the institution of the action because this would mean that the county would have to pay the costs. However, there is another side, he said. Some who are indicted are unable to pay the tax and costs, and in order to pay the tax that they may retain their dog and go hungry for a week. He asked the court to make some suggestion as to a proper solution of the matter. The Recorder said that all would have to be treated alike. Rev. J. S. Brocker, colored, was required to pay the costs in a case against him for failure to pay the license tax, it appearing that he had paid the tax. One other person was required to pay the costs in a similar case, while two others were dismissed, a question of ownership of the canines having arisen.

Jas. Shepard and Alfred Brown, colored youths, were charged with affray. Mr. Peschau suggested that the case be dismissed upon condition that the boys' parents, who were in court, agree to give them a good flogging, which they consented to do. The boys were warned to keep away from in front of The Orton Hotel, where they are said to have been quite a nuisance.

ROUGH WEATHER OFF COAST

Squalls and Heavy Seas Off North Carolina Coast—Schooner Towed in Partially Dismasted—Steamer in Distress.

Following the very heavy downpour of rain and general stormy weather conditions that prevailed throughout this section of the State Sunday and yesterday, all inward bound s..pping yesterday reported very heavy seas and squalls all along the coast. The tides were extremely high Sunday and yesterday at the beaches and at the Sound, but so f.. as is known no damage to property on land had resulted.

The first report of shipping in distress was brought Sunday evening by the United States revenue cutter Seminole, which upon arriving at Southport, was notified of the precarious condition of the schooner Lottie R. Russell, inward bound with cargo of salt for Mr. J. W. Brooks, which was caught in a series of squalls while attempting to beat in over the bar Sunday morning and was partially dismasted. The cutter had just arrived from the northward, whither she had been called to the assistance of another vessel in distress and which had been left in the hands of private wreckers, The Seminole, Lieut. Covell in command, was notified while passing in at the quarantine station by the pilot boat Penton, Capt. Wm. St. George, that the schooner was in distress and she immediately put back, encountering herself a heavy squall and high seas on the bar. However, she reached the Russell just as she was about to drift ashore on Frying Pan and was towed into harbor at Southport. The Russell lost her foretopmast, just below the cross-tree; also all head sails together with maintopmast and sails. Otherwise her hull and cargo seemed to be intact. On account of the spars hanging aloft and the vessel rolling in the sea, the captain and crew were prevented by the danger from letting go anchor to keep the vessel from going on Frying Pan, where she would undoubtedly have been a total loss, but for the timely arrival of the cutter, which took the vessel in town after great difficulty. The Russell towed up to the city last night and is at the S. A. L. docks.

The cutter has been absent from her station several days, rendering assistance to the schooner Wm. H. Child previously reported ashore and in the hands of private wreckers and in inspecting motor boats at Morehead City to see that they are complying with the new regulations of the department. She arrived in port just in time to receive another hurry call, this time to the assistance of the British steamer Mistor, 1,923 tons, Capt. Knudsen, from Newport News, July 25th, to St. Thomas. The steamer was reported in distress two miles from Core Bank, four miles above Cape Lookout. As soon as the Seminole could receive coal and supplies she left her dock last evening at 7 o'clock and expected to reach the Mistor early this morning. No particulars of the condition of the steamer were given in the telegram to the cutter requesting assistance.

There were four arrivals of vessels in port yesterday including the Russell. The schooner William Thomas Moore, 263 tons, Capt. Jones, arrived from Philadelphia with cargo of cement for the S. A. L.; the schooner Edith, 1,051 tons, arrived from Baltimore with cargo of acid phosphate for the new Atlantic Coast Line warehouse, and the Clyde liner Katahdin, 2,165 tons, Capt. Maguire, arrived from New York yesterday afternoon, about 12 hours late on account of having left New York late. She is on the Wilmington run from the Norfolk and Philadelphia line, while the Navahoe is being repaired and repainted. The schooner William Thomas Moore has been out from Philadelphia since July 22nd, and some apprehension was felt for her safety when she arrived.

OPERETTA LAST NIGHT.

First Performance of "Little Red Riding Hood" at Crystal.

Under the auspices of the Whatsoever Circle of the King's Daughters and before a packed house, the first performance of the operetta, "Little Red Riding Hood," was given in the Crystal Palace last evening from 8 until 9:30 o'clock, the little performers winning for themselves much applause by their clever acting.

The operetta presents the story of Red Riding Hood with a number of special features giving it added interest. More than 50 children are numbered in the cast and their excellent training was demonstrated by the admirable way in which they handled their respective parts last evening.

Several features brought much applause from the audience, the most popular probably being the "Tom Thumb Wedding." Others were the "Chinese Honeymoon," and the song, "Meet Me Where the Lantern Glow."

Another delightful feature of the evening was the violin solo work by Miss Hazel Langenberg, an accomplished young violinist, of Peoria, Ill. Miss Langenberg last evening rendered "Legende", by Bohm, Op. 314, No. 7, and "Serenade Dadine," by Gabriel Marie. Both selections were received with much applause.

Master William Penny and Miss Rheta Stokley gave a clever song specialty between the acts.

This evening there will be two performances of the operetta at the Crystal Palace, one at 8 and the other at 9 o'clock. Miss Langenberg will again render several violin selections, and again on Wednesday evening when two more performances will be given.

FINE ROAD IN BRUNSWICK

Highway Being Constructed Between Brunswick River and Town Creek—Conference on the Free Ferry Project.

In view of the joint conference next Monday of the County Commissioners of New Hanover and Brunswick and the City Council of Wilmington to consider the free ferry proposition across the Cape Fear river between the two counties, it will be of interest to the citizens of both counties to know that Town Creek township, Brunswick county, is doing its part in the proposition for the free ferry and is now rapidly constructing a splendid sand-clay road between the Brunswick river and Town Creek.

The work is being done under the supervision of a Mr. Dyson, who is receiving suggestions from Dr. Joseph Hyde Pratt, State Geologist. Mr. Dyson hopes to have the road completed in a very short while as far as what is known as cross roads, on the Bellamy plantation, through Elbow Bay. This will mean five miles of good roads and will make the large saw mills in that vicinity easier to get to. The mills referred to are operated by Dr. Goodman and a Mr. Bryant and saw long leaf and short leaf pine on the Bellamy plantation. A station called Landview is being opened on the Southport railroad so as to secure lumber from these mills.

The highway is to be 30 feet wide and is of sand-clay with terra cotta conduits instead of bridges. There is a deep ditch on either side of the road for most of the way. The stretch of road known as the causeway, owned by the ferry company, has recently been somewhat improved by the use of about 100 loads of clay.

A person very much interested in the construction of the road stated yesterday that the work is being done by day laborers, while the Wilmington-to-Charlotte highway passing through Columbus county is being constructed by convicts, and he commented upon the superior work done by the latter, though not criticising the work done in Brunswick. This stretch of road of the highway, he said, is extending by Bolton, Birdsville, Freeman on to Cronly and will probably cross Hood's creek above Summerville village, thence to Phoenix. One of two routes will then be chosen, he said, either turning to the left, crossing the A. C. L. 1 1-2 miles above Navassa, then crossing and following the Southport railroad or coming in at the Brunswick river, or the other via Leland and taking the old Fayetteville road

It was stated yesterday that Senator Geo. H. Bellamy, of Brunswick, will probably attend the joint conference in this city next Monday afternoon and will urge upon the Commissioners and Councilmen to establish a free ferry as provided for in a bill which passed the last Legislature. It is understood that the commissioners of New Hanover county and the Councilmen are favorable to the proposition and are ready to furnish their portion of the cost of the utility whenever Brunswick county is ready with her 30 per cent. It is hoped that at the meeting next Monday some action will be taken by which the much needed and much desired public utility will be provided.

MURDERER STILL AT LARGE

Officers Search in Vain for Fred Brown—False Alarm

The search for Fred Brown, colored, who shot and almost instantly killed John Bennett at Seventh and Nixon streets early Saturday night, continues unabated, but up to last mid-night he had not been apprehended. Brown was seen in the vicinity of Ninth and Swan streets about 1 o'clock Sunday morning by Officer C. G. Jones, who was not certain at the time that the negro was Brown, therefore he did not shoot at him. Afterwards he learned that the negro was Brown. The officers then renewed their efforts and made a thorough search of the vicinity, but no further trace of the man was obtained.

Report was made to the hall Sunday afternoon by a negro woman that Brown was then at No. 1010 North Seventh street, where Bennett lay a corpse, and while not putting much confidence in the woman's statement Capt. Geo. W. Smith despatched Officer C. J. Jones to the scene. En route he got one or two other officers and they went with him. Upon arrival at the place designated they were told by the woman that Brown was at a house on Sixth street. The officers went to the last address, made a search of the house but found no one anwering the description of Brown.

Again yesterday afternoon report was received that Brown was in the vicinity of the "Y" and that he was hotly pursued by 150 white and colored people and half dozen or more policemen. The message was received at the Sheriff's office and Sheriff Cowan and Deputy Sheriff Harvey Cox went in the former's automobile to the scene to aid in the man hunt. They found that the report had been greatly exaggerated and that Brown was not in the neighborhood. Several policemen had been in the vicinity looking for the negro.

One of the officers who was on the scene soon after the murder stated that he was told that Brown shot two or three times at Bennett after inflicting the mortal wound. Brown is said to be a cocaine sniffer.

An inquest was held Sunday morning, the coroner's jury meeting at the Court House. Several witnesses were examined after which the jury, which had been summoned by Dr. C. D. Bell, the coroner, returned a verdict to the effect that Bennett came to his death by a pistol shot wound inflicted by one Fred Brown. The following composed the jury: J. D. Mote, foreman; Jere Hand, J. B. Elkins, George Schmilken, H. H. Woesbe and J. F. Sears, the latter secretary.

Accused of Stealing.

E. E. Chamberlain, of Clinton, Me., boldly accuses Bucklen's Arnica Salve of stealing—the sting from burns or scalds—the pain from sores of all kinds—the distress from boils or piles. "It robs cuts, corns, bruises, sprains and injuries of their terror," he says, "as a healing remedy its equal don't exist." Only 25c. at R. R. Bellamy.

CROWDS BRAVED WET WEATHER

Many Pleasure Seekers at Wrightsville Beach Sunday Despite Heavy Rain and Strong Wind. Usual Concerts.

Notwithstanding the fact that Sunday was probably the most inclement of any for the entire Summer season in this section, rain falling for practically the entire day and a hard gale blowing off the ocean, there was little in the attendance at the beach hotels and at Lumina to indicate that the weather was not ideal.

The regular excursion rates for the week-end were taken advantage of by about 800 people from the nearby towns and cities, and these added to the guests already at the two hotels gave both many more than could be expected on so unfavorable a day. Not a few Wilmington people went out for part of the day, too, despite the weather.

Possibly the good attendance Sunday was due to the fact that the beach season will come to an end in a few weeks and the people desire to spend as much time as possible at the delightful resort before it closes down until next Spring. Next Sunday will be the last on which the low week-end rates will hold good over the Atlantic Coast Line, and in a week or so more both of the hotels will have closed.

With the inclemency of the weather preventing any of the outdoor recreations that are popular with the Sunday visitors, the usual concerts for the day were heard by even larger crowds than usual and were heartily enjoyed. Morning concerts were rendered at both the Oceanic and the Seashore Hotels and the afternoon and evening concerts at Lumina.

Aside from the excellent programme by the Ashury orchestra, the concert at the Oceanic Hotel was made doubly enjoyable by the charming vocal selections by Miss Lucy Bickley, of Birmingham, Ala., a charming guest at the popular hostelry. Miss Bickley possesses a voice of rare charm and engaging quality and guests at the hotel who had heard her sing pressed her to appear during the Sunday concert. Miss Bickley consented and her part of the programme was easily the feature.

At the Seashore Hotel a splendid programme was rendered by the orchestra of young women, and was heard with delight by a large audience.

Two excellent programmes were rendered during the afternoon and evening by the Kneisel Orchestra at Lumina, and considering the coolness and dampness of the weather they were heard by an exceptionally large crowd. Several numbers at each concert caught the popular fancy of the crowd and were heartily encored, but the feature of the day was the selection, "The Trumpeter of Sackingen," a composition by Victor E. Nessler. While not mentioned on the programme as such the number was in reality a cornet solo, with the orchestra accompaniment. Mr. Claude Elam had the solo part and handled it in his usual masterful manner. The story told by the music is the farewell of a young trumpeter of Sackingen to his sweetheart. He plays the farewell on his trumpet before going off to war, and the music is really beautiful. To give the desired effect in the way of muffling the music and making it seem far off in the distant mountains of Sackingen, Mr. Elam was stationed in the loft, and was accompanied by the orchestra down below. The beautiful selection was appreciated by the audience and they insisted on two encores.

On account of the gale Sunday afternoon the surf was rather too rough for bathing and for the first afternoon in several months the beach front seemed almost deserted. A few of the hardier bathers, however, would not be deprived of their customary dip and braved the rough seas for a short time.

THE STORM LOCALLY

Heavy Rainfall Here Yesterday and Sunday—At the Beaches

A moderate depression of barometer over the South Atlantic States from North Carolina to Florida, was accompanied by a very heavy downpour of rain here Sunday and yesterday, the precipitation for the 24 hours ended at 8 o'clock yesterday morning having been 3.58 inches while yesterday the fall was .31 of an inch. The rains were general along the South Atlantic coast and rough weather was reported on the outside, as related elsewhere in today's paper in connection with the disabling of the schooner Lottie R. Russell off Cape Fear bar. The storm manifested itself in a severe electrical display Sunday morning about 5 o'clock, followed by a downpour of rain which continued almost all day. Toward evening, the skies cleared, but it was only temporary and there were further rains during the night and yesterday with murky weather everywhere. The tides at the beaches were quite high, but threatened no property on land. While some anxiety was felt at Wrightsville during the afternoon yesterday, there was not the slightest danger and with assurances from the Weather Bureau that the worst had passed with the high tide at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, very few people left the resort.

Rainfall in the Wilmington district for the 24 hours ended at 8 o'clock yesterday morning was reported as follows: Wilmington, 3.58; Cheraw, S. C., 1.05; Florence, .33; Lumberton, .42; Raleigh, .22; Charleston, 1.40; Columbia, 1.00, and New Orleans, 2.00.

THIN FOLKS MADE FAT

Good, healthy flesh can only be gained by the use of the proper food, together with natural action of the organs of assimilation. Nine people out of ten in order to weigh as much as they ought and be perfectly healthy should use Samose, the great flesh-forming food and health restorer. Weigh yourself before commencing to use these little tablets, and see how your weight increases from week to week.

Samose does not contain a particle of starch or pepsin, nor is it any nauseating preparation, such as is usually recommended to make people fat and which does not build up good healthy tissues. Samose has valuable flesh-forming properties, tones up and strengthens the whole system, helps the food that is eaten to be assimilated in a natural manner and absolutely restores health to all the organs.

If you are not perfectly satisfied with the results from Samose, J. Hicks Bunting Drug Co., will return your money without any quibbling.

TWO ROBBERIES SUNDAY NIGHT

Stores in Different Sections of the City Entered—One Burglar Fired at by a Passing Citizen.

In addition to the two shootings that marked the week-end among the negro population, there came Sunday night of two robberies, one at Sixth and Campbell streets at the store of Mr. Woodcock, and the other at 11th and Princess, at Mr. James Elder's store.

The first robbery, or the one at Mr. Woodcock's place of business, was reported to the police Sunday night about 11 o'clock, but the other was not reported and was not discovered until yesterday morning. No money was taken from either place, it is believed, and the only things that were disturbed were drinking and smoking materials.

At Sixth and Campbell the robbery was discovered by a Mr. Millan, who was passing. He noticed the door open and as he was looking a tall slim negro dressed in a light suit of clothes ran out. Mr. Millan fired at the man with a revolver, but so far as is known the bullet did not take effect. The police were notified and hurried to the scene. On the floor in the front part of the building was found a box and 36 half-pint bottles of whiskey, which the negro had evidently been packing to take away with him. Although all the policemen on duty at the time were notified to keep a sharp lookout for the negro he was not apprehended.

Mr. James Elder conducts a grocery store and soft drink establishment at 11th and Princess. The robberty there was committed some time during the night, but was not discovered until morning. Then it was not reported to the police in an official way. The grocery department of the place was not entered, but a number of cigarettes and a considerable quantity of bottled goods from the soft drink section of the store were missed. The police have no clue whatsoever as to who is responsible for this burglary. However, the fact that cigarettes were chief among the articles taken seems to indicate that it was committed by the same person or persons responsible for many of the other robberies of the veritable reign of terror that has endured for the past few months. Cigars, cigarettes and smoking tobacco have frequently been the only articles missed and very few of the stores that have been entered have escaped without missing a quantity of smokables. This fact indicates that whoever is guilty is a devoted wooer at the shrine of the Goddess Nicotine, or is doing a profitable business disposing of goods that are paid for by the owners of the stores.

No Cause for Uneasiness.

It was stated from the local office of the United States Weather Bureau last night that the wind will be rather high from the northeast for awhile today, and that there will be high tides at Wrightsville Beach, but that there is no danger and no cause for uneasiness. The wind will be strong from the northeast for a portion of the day, he said, and then it will subside.

THE ARBITRATION TREATIES

Defended in Minority Reports Filed in Senate Executive Session

Washington, Aug. 21.—The treaties of arbitration with Great Britain and France were defended in minority reports filed in the Senate in the executive session today by Senators Cullom, Root and Burton, of the Senate committee on Foreign Relations.

Mr. Bruton continued that the agreements required no amendment because, as he declared the prerogatives of the Senate are sufficiently safeguarded. Senators Cullom and Root making practically the same contention, undertook to provide against any possible mishap by suggesting a declaration in connection with the resolution of ratification, explicity excluding from the terms of the treaty all questions "involving the maintenance of the traditional attitude of the United States concerning American questions or other purely governmental policy."

In addition Senator Bacon suggested a modification of the amendment under the terms of which the excluded questions are specified. He named questions arisinig under the Monroe Doctrine and those pertaining to immigration and territorial integrity, while Senators Cullom and Root treated them as incorporated in the general language of their suggested declaration.

Senator Burton went further than his two colleagues, in making the contention that the treaty should stand just as it was forwarded to the Senate from the White House. Messrs. Cullom and Root united in recommending a modification of the treaties so that their ratification might be made with the understanding that the committee shall not have the right to interefere in the settlement of questions like the Monroe Doctrine, which involve well established lines of policy.

In his report Mr. Burton said that the Senate would be deprived of none of its functions.

No action on the conventions was taken and they go over for further consideration at the regular session.

FIGHT AT LUMINA

Suburban Car Line Men in Personal Difficulty Yesterday.

In Justice Bornemann's court this morning at 10 o'clock will be tried a personal difficulty between Conductor W. S. Baird and Inspector Kennett McKenzie, of the Tidewater Power Company, which occurred at Lumina yesterday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock. An eye witness said that Mr. McKenzie, who is younger than the other man, was severely beaten before bystanders could stop the fight. Mr. McKenzie, he said, did not do much fighting. The trouble appears to have started over reports made by Mr. McKenzie in his position as inspector on the suburban line. He claims, it is said, that Mr. Baird coaxed him behind the water tank at Lumina and then proceeded to beat him.

Mr. and Mrs. Collins' Return.

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Collins, who removed from this city to St. Augustine, Fla., several years ago, have returned, and it will be with much regret that their many friends will learn that Mr. Collins is now an invalid, having lost the use of his lower limbs. At present Mr. and Mrs. Collins are making their home with Mr. and Mrs. John W. Monroe, at No. 316 North Second street. A little later Mr. Collins will enter a sanitarium for treatment and his friends will hope for his speedy recovery to health and strength. His case is something on the order of paralytic rheumatism.

Mr. T. L. Mulford Injured.

While attempting to board the Atlantic Coast Line train from the South at Malmo Sunday night, Mr. Thos. L. Mulford, of this city, was thrown and rather painfully injured. He was brought to the city early yesterday morning and taken to the James Walker Memorial Hospital, where he was reported last night to be resting very well. It was stated that his injuries were not of a serious nature. Mr. Mulford is an employe of the Smith Roofing Company, of this city.

Mr. W. J. Craig in Charleston.

Yesterday's Charleston News and Courier: "Mr. W. J. Craig, passenger traffic manager of the Atlantic Coast Line Railway Company, with headquarters in Wilmington, was in the city yesterday for the purpose of addressing the Charleston Branch of the Railway Agents' Protective Association at the Union Station yesterday afternoon. The meeting took place in the office of Superintendent J. C. Murchison, and was well attended by members of the branch."

..Theatrical..

A film fact all should see, but especially the young man, will be offered at the Bijou today, at the popular place that believes in getting out of the beaten path and in doing extraordinary things. It will be the latest Melies creation, or perhaps better, the latest Melies sensation, "His Terrible Lesson." It is a film that is most vivid in nature and presents a great moral that deals with every day life. It points the erring young man, or the one who is inclined to be too gay and rapid to the right path. It shows how the young man can fall through association with evil company and through strong drink. The lesson told is terrible, but its end is bright and the impression it will make will not only be strong, but greatly beneficial. It shows how a young man falls so that when charged with committing murder he actually believes that the allegation is so. He flees the country, but later, having a strong longing to see his old home, returns, is pursued by a posse and is captured. It is then that fate, in a peculiar manner, suddenly steps in and saves him. The lesson taught is a wonderful one. All old and young, men and women, should see this big film today at the Bijou. Another star on today's programme, among many other good ones, is "The Blind Princess and the Poet." It tells a beautiful story of court life; one that will deeply interest. The music for today will be all new and will be of the merriest type. Of course, it will all be up-to-date.

An Ice Cream Supper.

A variety of confectioneries will be served at attractive prices and the public is cordially invited.

COTTON SHOWS IMPROVEMENT

Close Was Steady Unchanged to Five Points Higher—Favorable Private Crop Accounts Was Feature Yesterday.

New York, August 21.—An early advance in English labor advices and the failure of the weather map to show any further rains in the Southwest over Sunday was followed by a sharp reaction in the cotton market today, but the close was several points up from the lowest and the final tone was steady, net unchanged to 5 points higher.

The market opened firm at an advance of 4 points on August and of 106@13 points on later positions, with active months selling about 15 points net higher during the early trading, as a result of covering and moderate bull support, inspired by the higher cables and reports that the English labor troubles have been practically settled. The advance had also the encouragement of unfavorable private crop accounts, and talk of renewed dry hot weather in the Southwest, but the South was quite a heavy seller on the initial advance. Wall street houses were believed to be liquidating cotton purchased last week, and leading spot interests were credited with selling freely against the rapidly increasing new crop movement. The offerings at any rate soon became heavy enough to check the advance, and an idea that leading bulls might be liquidating their cotton on bulges promoted more aggressive pressure from local bears.

From 11:46 the high point of the morning December contracts sold off to 11.27 during the middle of the day, with active new crop months generally showing a net loss of about 2@4 points, but at this level offerings were a little less active and with private wires reporting high temperatures in Texas again today new crop positions rallied some 9@10 points from the lowest in the late trading on covering and Southern bull support.

Receipts today, 12,700 bales, against 4,765 last week, and 10,702 bales last year. Today's receipts at New Orleans were 316 bales, against 253 bales last week and 143 bales last year. At Houston today 22,048 bales, against 3,414 bales last week, and 5,728 bales last year.

Spot cotton closed quiet. Middling uplands, 12.50; middling gulf, 12.75; no sales.

The cotton exchange will be closed September 2, the Saturday preceding Labor Day.

Cotton futures opened firm and closed steady.

TRENO OF STOCKS DOWNWARD

Renewal of the Decline in the Market Yesterday—Moderately Heavy Selling—Harriman Matter Discouraging.

New York, August 21.—The week in the stock market opened with a renewal in mild form of the downward movement, which has played such havoc with the prices of securities for almost a month. There was a moderately heavy selling which again concentrated upon the leaders, Union Pacific, Reading and U. S. Steel. The decline today was more suggestive of profit-taking by speculative interests which brought on last week's low price, than liquidation. Week-end developments offered little incentive for activity on the bull side.

Perhaps the most discouraging event was the announcement of the Harriman system of its intention to embark on the comprehensive policy of retrenchment because of unsatisfactory earnings and other adverse conditions. It is understood that the proposed curtailment will affect several employees in the clerical departments of the Union and Southern Pacific lines, and may later embrace the operating divisions. Incidentally, this action on the part of the Harriman roads which accepted as an indirect response to the recent demands of various employees for increased pay and shorter hours. Pressure against United States Steel was again pronounced, in fact more so than any recent period, and the heavy offerings of this stock, according to gossip, resulted from fear that the report soon to be submitted to President Taft by the Department of Labor and Commerce would hardly be favorable.

Trading languished for the greater part of the session, after the first hour, with no material changes other than the intermittent recovery of the speculative leaders from their low prices. In the very late business there was a moderate increase of activity, again, however, at the expense of values, with Union Pacific falling to its previous low level of the day. Final prices were only a fraction above the poorest, and the market's tone at the close was distinctly heavy.

Bonds were heavy; here, with further weakness in American Tobacco 4 per cent. Total sales, par value, were $1,507,000. United States government bonds were unchanged on call. Total sales for the day, 547,900 shares.

ness. "Why get me to order him to testify when he could go himself?"

"But haven't you just said you would regard such act as insubordination," the secretary was asked.

"Of any one below a chief of a bureau; not of a chief."

Mr. Ball Osborne, chief of the Bureau of Trade Relations of the State Department, was called to substantiate Secretary Wilson's statements that Dr. Wily had attended a conference at the State Department with the French ambassador in which it was agreed not to enforce the Federal law regarding sulphate dioxide in imported fruit juices until the Remsen board had passed on the subject. Mr. Osborne said Dr. Wiley was there as the representative of the Department of Agriculture.

"I did not know he was there, in any such capacity," said Secretary Wilson.

"Why did he go then?"

"I do not know. I guess because he was a friend of the French ambassador."

MR. J. P. CALDWELL

Resting Quietly Enjoying Companionship of His Friends—Health

Charlotte, N. C., Aug. 21.—The Chronicle this afternoon says: "Mr. J. P. Caldwell's friends will be interested to know that he is happy and contented with Dr. John McCampbell in Morgantown, where he has been for almost two years.

"During the past month Mr. Caldwell's condition has been excellent and he looks well. Although unable to leave his chair he finds diversion in the newspapers of the State, many of which are sent him and in his hands is found constantly one of his favorites. Mr. Caldwell contends that he is unable to keep up with the times and affairs of the day as satisfactorily as is his wont, but on almost any topic of public moment he is conversant and well posted. In reading he is handicapped to some extent but in speech he has improved to a gratifying degree. His chief interests lie entirely with his friends and their affairs, however, and nothing gives him more pleasure than visits from them and anecdotes and news from them.

"His mind is as clear and his perception as keen as in the days of old and he is cheerful always and uncomplaining, having perfectly adjusted himself to the divine will."

A COATESVILLE ARREST

Stranger Taken in Custody by Detectives—His Part in Affair

Coatesville, Pa., Aug. 21.—A man giving the name of Herbert Smith and his address as Lancaster, Pa., but later changed it to Philadelphia, was arrested here late today and held for murder in connection with the lynching of Zack Walker in this borough on August 13th.

The information against Smith was furnished by detectives who are here investigating the burning of Walker. They stated that they overheard Smith telling of the part he took in the lynching.

The police officials believe that the name Smith is assumed but they have been unable to identify the prisoner.

Deputy Attorney General Trinkle came here today from Harrisburg and together with District Attorney Gawthrop and Captain Wilhelm, of the State Police, visited the hospital and also the field where the negro was burned. Deputy Trinkle said that he had been sent here by Governor Tener and that he would make his report direct to that official probably tomorrow.

PURE FOOD MEN.

Association Gathers in Duluth—The Wiley Case.

Duluth, Minn., August 21.—Only until the speeches of welcome and acknowledgement were completed did peace prevail at the meeting of the Association of State and National Food and Dairy Departments, which commenced here today.

The Wiley investigation in Washington is likely to be one of the principal stumbling blocks in the way of a harmonious meeting.

Governor Eberhart welcomed the delegates and commended their work and influence.

The greatest need along the lines of pure food legislation, he said, was unified laws. James Foust, of Pennsylvania, put the Wiley question up to the association in a resolution "that it is the sense of the association that it is unfitting that questions pertaining purely to the administrative actions of the government's control of which the association is composed shall be made matters of discussion in its proceedings."

The resolution was sent to the Committee on Resolutions, L. E. Emery, representative from Wisconsin, protesting that this was practically putting a gag on free discussion in the meeting.

"A tremendous pressure is being brought to bear on the pure food men in the public employ by the 'special interests,'" said he. "I am told that before this convention assembled men were sent about the country interviewing the leading pure food men in the public employ. I do not know who is paying for this."

HURRY FOR THE CANAL.

Urges That First Ship Go Through on March 1, of 1913.

Washington, Aug. 21.—President Taft has made up his mind that, while former President Roosevelt may have the credit for having started the Panama canal and got it well under way, he is going to have the distinction of having completed it.

The date for the official opening of the canal has been set for January 1, 1915. While President Taft expects to be re-elected, which would assure of his being the Nation's executive at the time of this formal function and the holding of the San Francisco fair in celebration of it, he doesn't propose to take any chances with a fickle public, which might for some reason elect someone else. So the word has gone forth that the canal must be completed and made ready for the passage of a vessel from sea to sea by March 1st, 1913.

Col. Goethals has repeatedly assured the President within the last year that he expects to have the work actually completed by the middle of the year 1913, but this doesn't satisfy the President. With the canal opened by March 1, the President will have three days to appreciate the whole affair before being succeeded in the White House by some one else.

When arrested the woman was packing her belongings preparatory to leaving the city. She at first denied that she was Mrs. Noel, but upon being confronted by certain letters admitted her identity. She declared that she would not go back to North Carolina without requisition.

Santa Fe, N. M., Aug. 21.—Immediately upon receipt of news that the President had signed the Statehood bill, Miss Madeline Mills, daughter of Governor Mills, hauled on the capitol staff a large flag with 48 stars. Tonight a monster non-partisan Statehood celebration took place in the public plaza while the city was lighted with bonfires and a great fire burning on the top of Fort Marcy, overlooking the city. Among the speakers were seven judges of the Supreme Court, the Governor, and four ex-governors of New Mexico.

DETECTIVE MUST ANSWER

Detective Who Kidnapped McNamara Must Go Back to Indiana.

Sacramento, Cal., Aug. 21.—Governor Johnson honored today requisition from the Governor of Indiana for the return to Indianapolis of James Hosick, a detective of Los Angeles, for trial on the charge of having kidnapped from Indianapolis John J. McNamara, now held in Los Angeles in connection with the destruction of the Times newspaper plant last October.

In order to enable the defense to take habeas corpus proceedings, it was agreed that the requisition should not be issued until Thursday morning at 9 o'clock. In honoring the requisition Governor Johnson said:

"There is no more reason why Hosick should not be taken back to Indianapolis to stand trial on the kidnapping charge than that the McNamaras should not have been brought to California."

After being signed, the papers were placed in the hands of William Hold, State agent for Indiana.

E. J. Fleming, representing the defendant, argued that the government should not grant the extradition because when Hosick left Indiana with John J. McNamara, he did so under a requisition issued by Governor Johnson and honored by the Governor of Indiana. He declared if given an opportunity to go into the merits of the case he could show that McNamara was not kidnapped.

Henry Seifried, special prosecuting attorney for the Governor of Indiana, urged the requisition, declared Indiana was sincere in desiring Hosick for trial and that a crime had been committed by the Los Angeles detective in spiriting a citizen of Indiana away without due process of law.

BLACK MOUNTAIN RAILWAY

Litigation Over Bonds at Asheville—Capt. Barham Dead

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Asehville, N. C., Aug. 21. — In chambers Saturday afternoon Judge J. C. Pritchard signed an order remanding the case of Black Mountain Railway Company vs. Chas. L. Oberlin, C. S. Aldrich et al., from the Circuit Court of the United States, to the Superior Court of Yancey county.

The point contended by the plaintiff is that the defendants entered into a contract to furnish $75,000 toward the construction of the railroad which is being built in Yancey county; that they broke the contract and the company is suing to recover the $75,000.

The case was removed to the Circuit Court on the contention of the defendants that there was improper and fraudulent joinders of the defendants one of whom was a non-resident. This point was argued before Judge Pritchard about a month ago and after considering the matter he decided that there was no improper joinders and remanded the case.

Capt. G. A. W. Barham, of Durham, died Saturday morning at the home of his daughter, Mrs. J. E. Hardin, 332 Montford avenue, after an illness of two weeks, at the age of 79 years. He had been in feeble health for some time.

Capt. Barham was born in Suffolk county, Virginia in the year 1832. He moved to Durham many years ago where he engaged in the leaf tobacco business until recently. He had spent many Summers in Asheville and came here about a month ago.

The remains were taken to Durham for interment Sunday morning. The deceased is survived by two sons and four daughters.

In Superior Court Saturday, John Arrington pleaded guilty of assaulting W. H. Barrows with a pistol and was fined $40 for the assault and $28 for carrying concealed weapon. A few weeks ago Arrington came here from Madison to see his wife, so he said. He thought that Barrows was paying attention to his wife. He saw them at Riverside park and followed them when they boarded a car. He said that he motioned to his wife to leave Barrows and when she refused he was provoked whereupon Arrington fired a few shots one of which lodged in Barrows' foot.

$100,000 PER ROOM.

Rockefeller is Making Improvements on His Great Pocantico Estate.

Tarrytown, N. Y., Aug. 21.—The work of remodeling the big Pocantico Hills home of John D. Rockefeller, which is now under way here, will cost more than a million dollars and will not be completed for more than a year. The alterations will give ten new guest chambers of the most modern and luxurious character. The rooms, which will thus cost $100,000 each, will be placed on the upper floors.

It will require the expenditure of $1,000,000 to make the building capable of absorbing the new apartments without destroying the symmetry of the structure.

The residence crowns the summit of Kykuit Hills, the highest peak on the great Rockefeller estate.

HENDERSONVILLE HOTELS.

Laurel Park Retreat Purchased by Miss Jordan—Another Enterprise.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Hendersonville, N. C., Aug. 19.—Laurel Park Retreat, a small family hotel in Laurel Park, has been sold to Miss Florence Jordan by Mr. W. A. Smith. The consideration was $13,600 with price included the hotel furnishings.

The sale of this hotel to Miss Jordan, under whose management it has been remarkably successful, in no wise interferes with the proposed erection of a mammoth hotel in Laurel Park by the Laurel Park Hotel Company. This company is capitalized at $100,000, the hotel plans are now being drawn and the building will be ready for occupancy by next season.

ed his approach there until sundown. Syracuse also was kept anxious until 7:17 P. M., when word came that he had landed safely at Belle Isle, five miles west of Syracuse.

Atwood said that in today's wanderings he had flown at least 75 miles, but could claim for his record only the 40 miles between Lyons and Belle Isle. His total flying time was one hour and twenty-eight minutes.

Atwood declared that today's experience was the most exciting that he had ever had.

"Tomorrow I will disregard all scheduled landing places, and will attempt to fly as far as Albany, 163 miles away, by way of Syracuse and Utica," said Atwood.

Night-Time Landing.

Washington, Aug. 21.—The first night landing ever made in an aeroplane at the army aviation field at College Park, Md., was accomplished tonight by Lieuts. Dew Milling and R. C. Kirtland. Guided by signal fires the aviators brought their machine down out of the dark to the cheers of the other members of the army aviation school and awaited them. They had flown from the park to the Chevy Chase Club, four miles distant, where their reception was so enthusiastic that they were forced to report at the aviation field.

Lieuts. Milling and Kirtland started out this morning to fly to Frederick, Md., with Lieut. Harry Arnold and Capt. Charles D. F. Chandler, to visit the District National Guard officers encamped there. At Kensington, Md., however, they ran out of cylinder oil and were obliged to land. In alighting their machine was slightly damaged and had to be towed back to College Park, where it was easily repaired for tonight's flight.

Lieut. Arnold and Capt. Chandler, after a successful flight to Frederick, were returning to Colleke Park when a strong wind and coming darkness compelled them to land at Gaithersburg, Md. They will resume their journey to College Park in the morning.

TO OPEN CAUCUSES.

Democrats Considering Allowing Representatives of Press to Attend.

Washington, Aug. 21.—The Democratic members of the House in caucus tonight discussed the plan of Democratic Leader Underwood to open to the press the party caucuses of the future. The result was the appointment of a committee composed of Representatives Underwood, James, of Kentucky; Palmer, of Pennsylvania; Hardy, of Texas, and Speaker Clark, who will report to a Democratic caucus early in the coming regular session.

Mr. Underwood urged that open caucuses would be for the best interests of the party and for the successful conduct of legislative affairs. Though some opposition developed, there were many in attendance who agreed with him and it was determined that the question should be made the subject for further discussion in December.

Representative Henry, chairman of the Rules Committee, in a public statement today advocated the Underwood plan. "If I can have my way," said Mr. Henry, "there will be no more secret Democratic caucuses. They should be wide open and public so that all may see and hear the proceedings. There should be no star chamber proceedings in Democratic affairs."
